

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

An improved rolling pin constructed of a solid metallic substance is disclosed. The rolling pin is preferably constructed of an aluminum substance. The rolling pin includes a main body having a solid shaft that tapers to two opposing ends. Each end includes a ball shaped handle. The rolling pin may then be powder coated to provide a unique metallic coating. The rolling pin is contoured and weighted to provide outstanding controlling characteristics.